Successful Northwest School Farmers' Week

Regardless of blocked country roads, and severe winter weather, thousands of farmers and townspeople from every county in Northwestern Minnesota, in addition to other hundreds from North Dakota and outside points, attended the Nineteenth Annual Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows, February 4-8. It is gratifying to know that a number of new records were established this year. Record entries were reported in the livestock and the boys' and girls' club divisions.

Visitors were unanimous in their verdict that the special meetings for the men and for the women surpassed all previous efforts, while the talent engaged for the big evening sessions was fully up to the high standards set in former years.

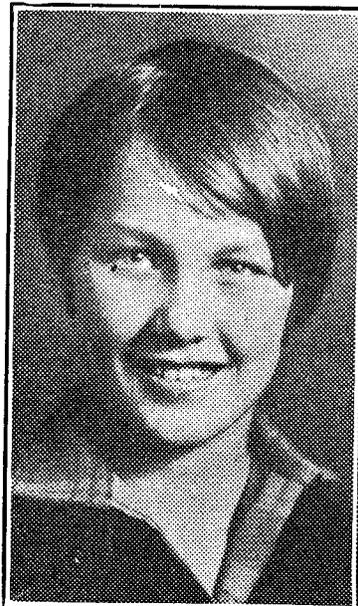

Much of the success of the Valley's annual educational week is due to the hearty cooperation of organizations and individuals numbered by the score. All exhibits are housed in buildings owned by the Red River Valley Livestock association. The Red River Valley Development association, together with the Crops and Soils association, take charge of the Crops show, while the Northern Minnesota Poultry association directs the poultry show.

Impressive Evening Meetings

In addition to the many outstanding lectures, special music featured the evening sessions, which were held in the Crookston Armory. Each meeting opened with band music furnished by the Red Lake Falls, Shelly, and Crookston Municipal and Juvenile bands, under the direction of H. L. Smith. Miss Helen Brown, Miss Cynthia Murdoch, Mrs. C. Merriam Stephens, and Mr. N. A. Thorson led the community singing. Other special music selections included vocal and instrumental solos, quartets, and choruses, together with the Moorhead Ladies' Sextette, winners of the Ninth District Federation of Women's Clubs song contest held at Fergus Falls last spring.

Dean W. C. Coffey and Chancellor E. H. Lindley, of the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas, were the speakers Monday evening. Dean Coffey chose for his subject, "Chain Farming." "We may be coming into an age of chain farming, possibly corporation farming," said the Dean, "but I think that the day when the majority of our farms will be in chains or corporations is exceedingly remote." Chancellor Lindley's address, "The New Pioneers," will long be remembered by all who were privileged to hear him. In concluding his discussion of both the old and the new pioneers, Dr. Lindley stated that the time has come when "We should take our hats off to the past, but our coats off to the future."

Tuesday evening Bishop G. G. Bennett, Duluth, one of the most forceful speakers of the Northwest, addressed Winter Shows visitors on "A Man in Modern America." Bishop

JUNIOR SHORT COURSE DATES ARE CHANGED

For a number of years the Junior Short Course has been held during the week following the close of the winter term, this being the latter part of March or the first week in April. Many students have found this date quite inconvenient, due to the fact that grade schools were in session at the time. To avoid this conflict, it has been decided to hold the Short Course this year on June 10-13. All prospective students should note this change in date, and watch for further announcements in subsequent issues of the Northwest Monthly. For additional information, write H. A. Pflughoeft, District Club leader, Northwest School.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR COMMENCEMENT WEEK

A cordial invitation is extended to parents, alumni, and friends of the Northwest School to attend the various Commencement week activities March 24-28.

Reverend Earl F. Baumhofer will deliver the Commencement sermon in the First Methodist Church, Crookston, Sunday evening, March 24. On Monday evening the inter-society oratorical and declamatory contest will be held in the school auditorium. Two representatives from each literary society will participate in this important contest. The following evening all members of the Senior class will be the guests of Superintendent and Mrs. A. A. Dowell at their home on the campus. Students in voice, piano, and violin will present their annual recital program under the direction of the faculty of the Music department on Wednesday evening.

Alumni will join the students and faculty at the annual get-together dinner, Thursday noon. Other Commencement day activities include the Senior class exercises in the auditorium during the afternoon, and the presentation of diplomas and the Commencement address in the evening.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY POPULAR

Members of the Senior Class are to be congratulated on the successful outcome of their class play, "The Show Off," which was presented in the school auditorium the last week in January. This play is a comedy of family life. It concerns the struggles

DATE ANNOUNCED FOR JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The annual Junior-Senior banquet, sponsored by the Junior Class under the direction of the class advisers, Miss Helen Brown and Miss Rose Polski, will be held in the school dining hall Monday evening, March 11. According to the committee in charge, a menu of appetizing delicacies will be followed by a program of equal satisfaction. Mr. Lawrence Newhouse, Crookston, will act as toastmaster. Toasts will be given by Lester Tangjerd, Bagley; Isabelle Letnes, Crookston; Arnold Hanson, Thief River Falls; Harold Cordes, Henning, and Chester Torgerson, Fergus Falls. The faculty toast will be given by Miss Grace Warne, while Superintendent Dowell will speak briefly on behalf of the school. A group of vocal and instrumental numbers will complete the banquet program, after which all will take part in the party, which will be held in the gymnasium.

SUCCESSFUL BASKETBALL SEASON

Coach LaVoi's basketball squad has made a remarkable showing again this year by winning every conference game to date and losing but two out of the seven outside games on what is considered the heaviest schedule ever attempted by a Northwest School team. Two games are yet to be played with the Morris Aggies on March 1 and 2. Morris is said to have the strongest team in the history of the school, with a number of outstanding performers who were able to hold the strong Moorhead Teachers College to a 19 to 18 score.

The personnel of the team is as follows: Roy Fisher, Martin Odlund, Harry Confer, Lawrence Elton, and Harold Cordes, forwards; Thomas Cain, center; and Elmer Johnson, George Berggren and Harold Nelson, guards. Other members of the squad include John Covlin, Edwin Trandem, Elon Bryngelson, and Arthur Widseth.

Results of games played to date are as follows:

Cathedral High, Crookston, 7; Northwest School, 14.

Stephen High, 11; Northwest School, 19.

Cathedral High, 23; Northwest School 11.

Ada High, 15; Northwest School, 13.

Stephen High, 11; Northwest School, 15.

Grand Rapids Aggies, 13; Northwest School, 18.

Fosston High, 19; Northwest School, 24.

Park Region, 24; Northwest School, 27.

Park River Aggies, 16; Northwest School, 19.

Fosston High, 6; Northwest School, 13.

MANY ENJOY FACULTY RADIO PROGRAM

Hundreds of alumni and friends of the Northwest School tuned in on University Station, KFJM, Grand Forks, on January 26, to hear an attractive program presented by the Northwest School faculty. T. M. McCall announced the various numbers, which included an address on the Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows by Superintendent A. A. Dowell, together with a varied program of music and readings. Other members of the faculty who took part in the program were Miss Helen Brown, Miss Rose Polski, and Miss Grace Warne, of the Music department, Mr. R. S. Dunham, Agronomist, and Miss Anne Simley, of the Department of English.

In addition to communications from alumni and former students, many messages of appreciation were received from farmers and townspeople scattered throughout the Valley.

COW TESTERS' SHORT COURSE ANNOUNCED

The annual cow testers' short course will be held at the Northwest School during the week of April 1 to 6. E. A. Hanson, Dairy Specialist, University Farm, together with a representative from the Cow testers' Department, will have charge of instruction. Interested parties should write O. M. Kiser, Northwest School, for additional information.

of Aubrey Piper to satisfy his enormous egotism and at the same time preserve his self respect in presence of discouraging obstacles. To his wife's family he appears as a worthless braggart, and his coming into the family is the cause of not a few domestic difficulties. The part of Aubrey was played very well by Harold Cordes, Henning, whose ability in dramatics has been shown in previous years. He possesses a good clear voice and a keen sense of interpretation of character. The very difficult part of the Mother, Mrs. Fisher, was taken by Alice Naplin, Wylie. This was the longest and most difficult part in the play, and was acted in a manner which would have been a credit to a professional. Robert Gleason, Minneapolis, as Mr. Fisher, undoubtedly was one of the stars, and the only regret was that he appeared in only one act. Every speech of this gruff old father brought a laugh, and he had the audience with him from his first entrance. Hazel Stephenson, Gary, who has taken many different parts in various plays, was at her best this year in the part of Amy. She gave an excellent interpretation of her character, from the stormy scenes in which she quarrelled with her sister, to the quiet moments when her every movement reflected the great admiration she had for her conceited husband. The sister, Mrs. Hyland, was excellently interpreted by Evelyn Bain, Baudette, who acted the part with ease and assurance. Other members of the cast were Conrad Peterson, Gatzke, taking the part of the young brother, Joe, and Jetle Gullekson, Beltrami, as Mr. Hyland, both of whom received many favorable comments. Two other character parts that added interest were Mr. Rogers, the lawyer, acted by Martin Odland, Verndale, and Mr. Gill, the machinist, acted by Lauritz Mikkelson, Hawley. Miss Anne Simley, director of the play, deserves much credit for the ease of manner and naturalness which characterized all the young people who took part in the production.

op Bennett stated that "The call is louder than ever before for men who are the masters of things, and have not been mastered by them. This call will be answered not from the cities, but from the farms—from the country, where there is still time to think—still moments left to see the red sunset in a clear sky—and hear the night wind whisper."

President Lotus D. Coffman, University of Minnesota, delivered a most inspiring address Wednesday evening on "Russia Today." Dr. Coffman, in company with a number of other American educators, spent some time in Russia during the past summer. People of Northwestern Minnesota appreciated very much this opportunity of hearing about conditions prevailing in Russia at the present time and left the meeting feeling that it was a privilege to be citizens of these United States.

On Thursday evening, Honorable L. J. Taber, Master of the National Grange, Columbus, Ohio, spoke on "Prosperity's Corner Stone," in which he made an appeal for an understanding between agriculture and industry. Mr. Taber added, "A better day awaits the farmer and his wife who are prepared to meet the changing conditions and adjust themselves to the demands of the future. Rural depression is passing; organization, education, and wise legislation will help to bring a better day. As agriculture increases its income and improves its standard of living, it will have a broadening effect on national welfare." Mr. Taber concluded by saying that "We must never forget that agriculture is both a business and a mode of life. It can be made a profitable business and it should be an ideal way of living."

As a fitting climax to the activities of the week, the Northwestern Minnesota Singers' Association, under the direction of T. W. Thorson, presented their twelfth Semi-annual Song Festival to a large and appreciative audience Friday evening. This organization has enjoyed a steady growth since it was organized in 1922. Each year since that date, it has furnished the principal musical event of Winter Shows week. This organization is composed of unit choruses located at Crookston, Erskine, Fertile, Fisher-Bygland, Fosston, Halstad, McIntosh, Mentor, Winger, Gonvick, Clearbrook, and Northwest School. Visitors who have attended each song festival since this feature was established, were unanimous in their verdict that the last concert surpassed all previous efforts.

Judging Contests Popular

The livestock and farm crops judging contests added an international touch to the activities of the week with teams entered from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Manitoba, Canada. The livestock judging contest is divided into three sections, one for Agricultural schools of sub-collegiate rating, a second for high schools and a third for farm clubs. Greater interest is being shown in these events with each passing year. The Manitoba Agricultural College, Winnipeg, won the sub-collegiate contest with a total of 1946 points. The Central School of Agriculture, St. Paul, placed second; the West Central School, Morris, third; the School of Agriculture, Brookings, South Dakota, fourth; Northwest School of Agriculture, fifth; Park River, North Dakota, 6th, and the North Central School, Grand Rapids, 7th.

Though a number of the farm club teams were unable to be present, due to the condition of the roads, ten teams were on hand for this important contest. The Sletten Farmers' Community club, Fosston, coached by Fred Idtse, county agent for eastern Polk county, carried off first honors. McDonaldsville Township team, of Ada, placed 2nd; Cooperative Creamery association, Bagley, 3rd; Hegne Township, Ada, 4th; Joe River Club, St. Vincent, 5th; Happy Corner Club, Hallock, 6th; Booster Club, Beltrami, 7th; McCrea Club, Warren, 8th; Warrenton club, Warren, 9th, and Angus Club, Angus, 10th.

A new record was established with six teams competing in the high school judging contest. Park Rapids High school returned to report their winning of one year ago. Fosston High School captured second place, with Bemidji 3rd; Warren, 4th; Fisher, 5th, and Grafton, North Dakota, 6th.

Crops Judging Contest.

Honors in the School of Agriculture Crops judging contest went to the North Central School of Agriculture, Grand Rapids, the youngest member of Minnesota's Agricultural School system. Second place was captured by the West Central School of Agriculture, Morris; Park River, North Dakota, 3rd; School of Agriculture, Brookings, South Dakota, 4th; and Northwest School of Agriculture, 5th.

Clay County Champion Speller

In competition with champion rural school spellers from twelve Valley counties, Frances Grover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto J. Grover, of Glyndon, won the Red River Valley Rural School Spelling Contest, with a score of 96.44 in the oral and written sections. Other awards were as follows: Sadie Andringa, Eldred, Polk County, 2nd; Aurora Johnson, Kennedy, Kittson county, 3rd; Pedra Larson, Goodridge, Pennington county, 4th; Eleanor Erickson, Norman, 5th; Orphie Hough, Clearwater, 6th; Alvin Grandstand, Marshall, 7th; Maryvl Hendrickson, Becker, 8th; Lyle Barrow, Red Lake, 9th; Elsie Bunte, Breckenridge, Wilkin, 10th; Bernice Gorden, Roseau, 11th; Rosalind Mellgren, Lengby, Mahnomen, 12th.

Boys' and Girls' Club Meetings

Approximately 175 4-H Club members from every county in Northwestern Minnesota exhibited their livestock, poultry, corn and potatoes in the Club department. Beginning Wednesday, the boys and girls received special instruction in the various livestock projects, such as Fitting, Showing and Selection of Club Pigs, Dairy and Beef Demonstrations, Feeds and Feeding, Demonstration on How to Block Sheep, Selecting Birds for Exhibition, and Poultry Culling. Instructors included H. G. Zavoral, W. E. Morris, and H. R. Searles, Livestock and Dairy specialists, T. A. Erickson, State Club Leader, together with O. M. Kiser and A. M. Pilkey, of the Northwest School. H. A. Pflughoeft, District Club leader, reports not only increased entries, but greater interest in all branches of club work than in any previous show. In addition to attractive prizes offered in the various classes, suitable awards were made to winners of the dairy, general livestock and poultry judging and culling contests.

Club Members Win Trips

Club members were awarded many important educational trips as a result of special achievement in the corn and potato division. Donald McCall, Crookston; Arthur Gordon, Shevlin; Maurice Hylden, East Grand Forks, and Marvin Glesne, Underwood, will receive free trips to the 1929 Minnesota State Fair Farm Boys Camp. Winners of trips to the Short Course at the Northwest School, include Lloyd Flint, Kennedy; Clayton Schiller, Greenbush; Melvin Lewis, Kennedy; Harold Kasell, Henning; Lawrence Green, Malung; Roy Gordon, Shevlin; Fred Stroble, Angus; Burton Lorenzer, New York Mills, and Clarence Gordon, Shevlin, with their potato exhibits, and Edward Krueger, Lester Larson, Arndt Heng, Arthur Hading and Kenneth Bredemeier, all of Barnesville, and Lawrence Harstad, Crookston, on corn.

4-H Judging Contest Awards

Walter Lewis, Fertile, was declared the Grand Champion judge in the boys' and girls' livestock judging contest. Other winners were as follows: Dairy—Wayne Naugle, Ada, 1st; Jarl Sundseth, Halstad, 2nd; Walter Lewis, 3rd. Beef—Walter Lewis, 1st; Royal Campion, Angus, 2nd; Lawrence Ward, St. Vincent, 3rd. Sheep—Lawrence Ward, 1st; John Cheney, Warren, 2nd; Bert Vanderbeck, Crookston, 3rd.; Pig—Walter Lewis, 1st; Lawrence Ward, 2nd; Roger Downing, Ada, 3rd.

Successful Women's Meetings

With record crowds attending the women's meeting, the Presbyterian church was taxed to capacity each afternoon during the week.

Attorney General G. A. Youngquist opened this series of meetings with a most instructive address on "Women and Business." The speaker emphasized the importance of the knowledge of those business principles which make for success and financial independence. Dean Coffey followed with a thoughtful discussion on the contribution of the farm home to American citizenship. "This generation of which you and I are a part," said Dean Coffey, "will, in large degree, be measured and evaluated, by the quality of the generation that succeeds it. Therefore, life's highest ambition should be to bring children into the world, to develop them physically, mentally, morally and spiritually, so that they go forth better prospects for constructive achievement than we were when we faced the tasks of the world. The home is still the most fundamental institution of all in building a great citizenship."

Miss Harriet Goldstein, head of the Related Art Section of the Division of Home Economics, University of Minnesota, delivered a series of four lectures and demonstrations on Tuesday and Wednesday. Tuesday morning Miss Goldstein discussed "Curtaining the Windows," and offered many suggestions for selecting, making and hanging curtains. The afternoon subject, "Handicrafts of the Orient," included an exhibition of needlework, batiks, tie-dyeing, weaving, and paintings of the East, and an explanation of some of the processes used by the Oriental craftsmen. "Choosing Decorations for the Home" was the topic Wednesday morning, followed by "Picture Appreciation" during the afternoon.

Professor LeRoy Arnold, well known playwright, author, and lecturer of Hamline University, delivered two much appreciated addresses Thursday: namely, "The Best New Books" and "Broadway Plays Today."

"Quilts—Antique and Modern," was the topic Friday morning, with Mrs. C. Merriam Stephens, Chairman of the Project Committee of the Polk County Federation of Women's Clubs, in charge. This committee is to be congratulated on the beautiful quilt exhibit, which attracted a great deal of interest throughout the week.

Miss Julia O. Newton, State Home Demonstration leader, and Professor Daniel L. Preston, Moorhead Teachers' College, addressed the closing session Friday afternoon. Miss Newton spoke on "The Challenge of Today," followed by Mr. Preston's discussion on "The Goal of Music Teaching in the Public Schools."

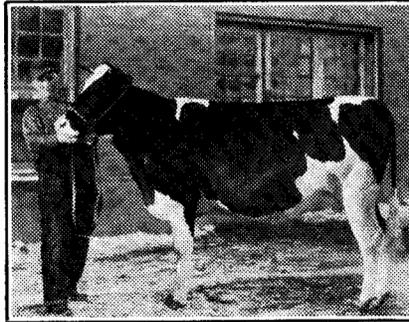

Other features of the afternoon sessions included organ selections, community singing, readings by Miss Anne Simley and Mrs. DeEtte Cenfield Genung of the Northwest School, plays and special music numbers.

Men's Meeting Praised

Officials in charge of the men's meetings were unanimous in their verdict that the various lectures and demonstrations were the best ever presented to a Winter Shows audience. Tuesday was devoted to crops and soils problems, including a review of the most recent investigations. Subjects discussed were as follows: "Lessons from Farm Cost Studies on Red River Valley Farms," by Dr. Geo. A. Pond; "Fitting the Combine Method of Harvesting to Minnesota Conditions," by A. J. Schwantes; "Chemicals for Weed Control" by A. C. Army; "Smut Prevention," by Dr. R. C. Rose, and "Sources of Seed Grain in Minnesota," by A. D. Haedeker.

Wednesday was livestock day. During the forenoon H. G. Zavoral discussed "Profitable Sheep Practices for Minnesota," followed by W. E. Morris on "Beef Cattle on Red River Valley Farms". Speakers on the afternoon program included the following: H. R. Searles, who discussed "The Dairy Cow as a Market for our Red River Valley Farm Crops;" H. B. Sommerfeld, "Selecting the Breeding Stallion," and E. F. Ferrin, "The Type of Hog Necessary to Make Economical Gains and a Superior Carcass."

Potato producers, horticulturists, and bee keepers held their meetings on Thursday. T. M. McCall opened the session with an address on "Establishing a Windbreak on Every Red River Valley Farm," followed by "Beautification of Farmsteads," by E. W. Schuster; "Improving the Quality of Certified Seed Potatoes," A. G. Tolaas; "Possibilities for Honey Production in the Red River Valley," M. C. Tanquary; "Management of Colonies in a Bee House," David Sanders; "Marketing Red River Valley Honey," P. N. Tri, and "Wintering Bees," by Silas E. Clark.

Poultry producers had a very profitable meeting the following day with

F. B. Hutt and A. M. Pilkey as the principal speakers. Mr. Pilkey discussed "Feeding the Farm Flock," while Mr. Hutt spoke on the subject, "Why Chicks Die in the Shell."

Farm machinery meetings were held each morning under the leadership of A. M. Foker, and S. A. Anderson of the Northwest School. Topics included "Binder Head and Knotterhead Troubles" and "Hay Rope Care and Repairs."
