N. W. School Farmers' Week Most Successful Ever Held Increased Attendance, Greater Interest, and More Exhibits Than at Any Previous Show

The Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows held during the second week of February was considered the most successful event ever held since these important meetings, contests and shows were first initiated twenty-one years ago. Attendance was estimated at between fourteen and fifteen thousand, which was a gain of ten per cent over one year ago and thirty per cent over two years ago. In the farm crops section there were 521 entries as compared to a previous record of 434. There was an increase of fifty per cent in 4-H club entries, with over twice as many sheep shown in the open classes as at any previous show. All barns were filled to capacity with a total of 664 animals on display.

Nineteen judges made the awards, while fifty nationally known speakers addressed the special day and evening meetings.

The Women's meetings drew record crowds each afternoon from Monday through Friday. On Thursday afternoon it was necessary to move to the armory, where 1600 women filled the main floor and gallery, and even with additional seats many were forced to stand throughout the performance. This was not only the largest crowd of women ever assembled at the Winter Shows, but said to be the largest crowd that ever attended similar meetings held at other agricultural institutions in the state.

Though the thermometer registered 15 degrees below zero one morning early in the week and 10 below on the closing day, the weather was on the whole the most favorable since 1928. Good roads also played an important part in the success of the week.

Impressive Evening Meetings

Honorable Lorado Taft, famous sculptor, author and lecturer, from Chicago, was the principal speaker Monday evening. In his address on "Beauty in American Life," he emphasized the importance of art in bringing out the finer things in life, those things that do not die with the individual but become a part of our rich inheritance from the past.

Honorable R. W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., spoke the following evening on "Some Problems Confronting the Farmer." As a means of securing for the American farmer, an American standard of living, Mr. Dunlap urged adjustment of production to our domestic needs, the removal of sub-marginal land from production, and the adoption of a national policy of land utilization which would prevent the further development of all such land. He added that prosperity is usually found in districts where livestock production is the chief type of farming.

Speaking Wednesday evening on "A Balanced Life in the New Age," Dr. Henry C. Swearingen, member of the Minnesota State Parole Board, since 1915, and pastor of the House of Hope Presbyterian Church, St. Paul, said that "Some mighty influence of a higher character than that of man himself is needed to hold back the tide of secularism and materialism which threatens to overwhelm present day society. Indeed there are some indications that we have gone so far with physical improvements that the ethical and spiritual life of mankind can no longer stand the strain. There are not wanting indications that the present depression all over the world can be traced, in part at least, to the mad and uncontrolled passion of the race for material prosperity. Doubtless the crime situation and the alarming conditions revealed within public life in some of our larger cities are warnings of what we may expect unless we take more serious account of the old fashioned virtues."

Several years ago Colonel Raymond Robins, Social Economist from Florida, appeared on the Farmers' Week program on the subject of "Outlawry of War," and made such a profound impression upon his hearers that everyone was anxious for a return engagement. He was consequently invited to return this year and discuss "The Constitution—Shall We Scrap It?" In discussing this all-absorbing subject, Colonel Robins traced the American Constitutional Doctrine from Washington

NORTHWEST SCHOOL WINS LIVESTOCK JUDGING CONTEST; THIRD IN CROPS

With teams from three states and Canada entered in the School of Agriculture Livestock and Farms Crops Judging Contests, an international touch was added to the activities of the Northwest School Farmers' Week.

For the first time in the history of the livestock judging contest, the Northwest School team captured first place, thus winning the silver trophy offered by the Crookston Milling Company. The team, which was composed of Jesse Filipi, Angus, Allan Hoff, Dalton, Clinton Donley, Fergus Falls and Howard Dunn, Northcote, alternate, was coached by Mr. George Wight. The Northwest School team scored 2529 points out of a possible 3000 in placing three classes each of swine, beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep and horses, and giving oral reasons on one class each. Jesse Filipi, high man of the entire contest, was awarded a gold medal and a year's subscription to the Jersey Bulletin. He scored a total of 905 points out of a possible 1000, or 44 points above his nearest competitor, A. Moffet, of the Manitoba Agricultural College. Allan Hoff also received a gold medal for placing highest in beef cattle.

The other schools competing in the contest together with their final scores were: Manitoba Agricultural College, Winnipeg, Canada, 2520; Central School of Agriculture, St. Paul, 2464; Walsh County Agricultural College, Park River, N. D., 2450; South Dakota Agricultural College, Brookings, S. D., 2438; West Central School of Agriculture, Morris, 2404; and Benson County Agricultural College, Maddock, N. Dak., 2283.

Crops Team Ranks High

In the school of agriculture crops judging contest the Northwest School team stood third with a spread of but 35 points between the first three teams. The contest was won by the North

RED RIVER AGGIE TO SHOW DEVELOPMENT OF NORTHWEST SCHOOL

The Aggie Board is making every effort to have the 1931 Red River Aggie ready for distribution well before the close of the Winter Term. As this year marks the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Northwest School of Agriculture, the theme centers around The Pioneer, and the class colors, cardinal and silver, have lent themselves admirably in carrying out the color scheme and emphasizing the silver anniversary of the school.

The subscription price of the Aggie, as for the past several years, is $2.00. We hope that all old grads and former students will avail themselves of the opportunity to thus visualize through the pages of the 1931 Aggie, the events of the past 25 years at the Northwest School.

Subscriptions should be mailed to Donald McCall, Treasurer, Aggie Board, Northwest School of Agriculture.

OPERETTA TO BE COLORFUL AFFAIR

Rehearsals are being held daily for "The Sunbonnet Girl," a two-act operetta to be presented at the Northwest School, Monday, March 16, by members of the boys' glee club, girls' glee club, and the mixed chorus. The operetta will be staged under the direction of Miss Hildur Peterson and Miss Rose Polski of the Music Department. The school orchestra will accompany the singers.

"The Sunbonnet Girl" is a comic operetta with book, lyrics and music by Geoffrey F. Morgan and Frederick G. Johnson. The story deals with Susan Clifton, the Sunbonnet Girl, who is an orphaned child of musical parents. She has been left in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Scroggs, a skinflint couple who have starved and stunted her. As the play opens a music contest is being held to award certain music scholarships by the State Federation of Music Clubs. Susan is rather anxious to participate in the contest, but is discouraged by Mrs. Scroggs, who insists that Susan has no proper clothes for such an affair. In the opening of the second act the music contest is under way. Towards the close of the contest the chairman announces "Susan Clifton" as one of the entrants. Susan appears gorgeously dressed in the height of fashion, having been completely outfitted by the sympathetic daughter of the president of the State Federation of Music Clubs. She sings her solo and is awarded the prize. Bob Coleman, son of the Federation president, is carried away by Susan's charm and beauty and offers his heart and hand, but Sue refuses to listen. The play comes to a happy ending. Humor is afforded by various comic types.

Mildred Malme, Nielsville, will take the part of Susan, while Kenneth Avery, Hallock, will play the part of Bob Coleman. The rest of the cast has been announced in a previous issue of the Northwest Monthly.

SENIOR CLASS TO PRESENT PLAY EARLY IN MARCH

"The Taming of the Shrew" will be presented March 2 and 3 as the annual senior class play of the Northwest School. It is, without question, Shakespeare's funniest farce. Though the characters appear in medieval tunics and tights, the theme is most modern; the cure of a scolding, nagging, headstrong wife by her husband.

The cast is very large, including thirty-three members of the senior class. Katherine, the shrew, is played by Antoinette DeMaster, Beaulieu; the dashing Petruchio, by Leo Maattala, Oklee; Don McCall, Crookston, interprets the old father, Baptista; Hulda Swanson, Kennedy, the gentle Bianca, and Arthur Grove, Roosevelt, the placid Hortensio, Emory KenKnight, Clearbrook, Clinton Donley, Fergus Falls, and Allan Hoff, Dalton, furnish much humor as clownish servants. Clifford Kroulik, Donaldson, appears as the music master, and Herbert Schroeder, Fergus Falls, as a tailor. Lords and ladies include: Angela Filipi, Angus; Edna Anderson, Grygla; Estelle Phillip, Mavie; Agnes Lundin, Stephen; Dora Woods, Radville, Sask.; Bjarne Nornes, Winger; Chester Yergens, McIntosh; John Anderson, Hallock, Rishton Bedard, Northcote, and Arthur Burke, Brooks, Petruchio's country household includes the rustics Clarence Peterson, Hawley, Ingolf Swanson, Alvarado, Albert Sandal, Syre, Carter Mortenson, Underwood, Roy Boman, Syre, Nels Stenborg, Clearbrook, and Ann Thoreson, Littlefork, as the talkative housekeeper.

The play has a prologue and epilogue as do most Shakespearian plays. Other members of the cast are Arlene Hill, Brooks, hostess of the ale house; Christopher Sly, a tinker, Richard Radway, Roosevelt; George Schulz, a Lord who's been hunting; his two huntsmen, Paul Sorenson, Hallock, and Carter Mortenson, Underwood, his servant, Raymond Peterson, East Grand Forks; a tapster, John Pearson, Middle River; three strolling players, Arthur Burke, Brooks, Rishton Bedard, Northcote, and John Anderson, Hallock; a page dressed as a lady, Clarence Preenovost, Red Lake Falls, and his lady in waiting, Roy Boman, Syre. The play is under the direction of Miss Cynthia Weinberger, with Miss Grace Warne and Mrs. DeEtte Cenfield Genung as class advisers.

We hope that many of our readers will attend this, the first Shakespearian play ever produced by students at the Northwest School; and the first class play to be presented in the new auditorium.

JUNIOR SHORT COURSE TO BE HELD IN JUNE

The twentieth annual Junior Short Course will be held at the Northwest School June 8-11, according to an announcement made by H. A. Pflughoeft, district club leader. In making plans for the week Mr. Pflughoeft expects an unusually heavy enrollment this year.

Three hundred and seventy-six boys and girls from every county in Northwestern Minnesota were in attendance last June.

The program will include special work with adult and junior leaders, together with such topics as organization of clubs, monthly programs, demonstrations, project instruction, and recreation. Instruction in home economics, livestock and crops projects will be in charge of the Northwest School faculty.

SWIMMING POOL POPULAR

Upon their return to the campus following the Christmas vacation, Northwest School students found the new Physical Education building complete in every respect. With the opening of the swimming pool, the new building has become the center of an enlarged and active Physical Education program. In addition to the gymnasium, which has already been the scene of a number of inter-school and inter-class basketball games, the new pool has been in constant use by those interested in the aquatic sport.

Besides the regularly organized swimming classes which are held daily, the pool has been reserved for student use in the evenings. Boys have free swimming periods each Wednesday and Friday evening, while the girls enjoy the use of the pool on Tuesday and Thursday evening.

Plans are underway to add swimming races and other contests to the many interesting events staged during the inter-class field meet held annually during the last week of the school year.

Instructors of the swimming classes are Mr. R. J. Christgau, Miss Elsie Mae Kingston, Mr. R. H. Connery and Mr. E. L. Ocock, all of the Northwest School faculty.

AGGIES BID FOR BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

With a record of three victories and no defeats in the Minnesota Agricultural School Conference Coach R. J. Christgau's basketball warriors are finishing another successful season and making a strong bid to repeat for another conference championship this year.

Since the last issue of the Northwest Monthly the maroon and gold warriors have engaged the Park River, North Dakota, Aggies, the Grand Rapids Aggies, the Bemidji Teachers College quint, and the St. Paul Aggies.

In the Park River encounter the Christgau-coached men led the scoring throughout the game. The score at the end of the first quarter was 4-2 with the half ending 14-9 in favor of the Crookston squad. The final score was 32-18 in favor of Christgau's men. Elton was high point man with 13 points, while Cain was second with 10. Avery contributed 10 points, Wolden 2, and Gronner 1.

The squad began its defense of last year's championship title with two engagements with the North Central School Aggies on February 6 and 7. The games were played in the Northwest School gym. Both teams were playing their first conference games and were anxious to make a good start in the title race this year.

In the first game of the series Christgau's men led the attack throughout. The first half ended with the score 16-9 in favor of Crookston. During the second half the Christgau-men continued their fine work and scored 18 points to 11 for their opponents. The final score was 34-20 in favor of the Crookston Aggies. Lawrence Elton, forward, was high point man on the Crookston squad with a total of 10 points while Cain and Hviding followed closely with 9 points each.

The second game of the Grand Rapids series resulted in another victory for Crookston by a 33-14 score. Jorgenson, star Grand Rapids center, began the scoring, but Hviding soon tied the score with a basket, following which Avery put the Northwest School team in the lead with a free throw and they were never headed during the remainder of the encounter. The score at the end of the half was 14-6. In the second period the Christgau-men added 19 points to their total, while Grand Rapids added 8. Elton and Cain divided scoring honors for the game with 11 points each, while Avery contributed 6 points and Hviding added 5. Gronner repeated his Friday performance by playing another brilliant game at guard.

The feature game on the 1930-31 basketball schedule was the contest with the Central School of Agriculture at St. Paul, February 21. Nine members of the squad and Coach Christgau and Assistant Coach Ocock journeyed to the University Farm, St. Paul, for the first game between the two schools. Enroute the Crookston squad stopped at Bemidji where they engaged the Bemidji Teachers' College quint in the second game of the year between the two schools. The score of this game was 35-27 in favor of the Pedagogues.

In the encounter with the Central School Aggies, Christgau's men were trailing at the half by a 14 to 7 score, but at the opening of the second period went on a scoring spree which soon tied the count. The game saw-sawed back and forth until the last ten seconds of play, when with the score tied at 23 all, Hviding sank a long shot that gave the Crookston Aggies a 25-23 victory. Many alumni, former faculty and friends of the school now residing in the Twin Cities were present to cheer the Crookston Aggies to victory.

Three more games remain on the Aggie schedule, two with the Morris Aggies at Morris, February 27-28, and a return game with the Thief River Falls quint to be played March 7 in the new Physical Education Building. The Thief River Falls game will close the 1930-31 basketball season at the Northwest School.

NORTHWEST SCHOOL WINS JUDGING CONTEST

ond; Walsh County Agricultural School, Park River, North Dakota, fourth; South Dakota Agricultural School, Brookings, fifth; and the Manitoba Agricultural School, Winnipeg, Canada, sixth.

The Northwest School team was composed of Kenneth Flom, Twin Valley and Lawrence Omundson, Radium, with E. R. Clark as coach. It will be remembered that the Northwest School won first place in the 1930 crops judging contest.

CLASS BASKETBALL

TOURNAMENT UNDER WAY

After leading all other class teams for three weeks in the annual class basketball tournament at the Northwest School, the Seniors were forced to relinquish their position in favor of the Advanced Class due to their recent defeat at the hands of the Freshmen.

Many interesting and exciting games have been played thus far. With half the schedule complete the standing of the teams is as follows: Advanced, Seniors, Freshmen, Juniors. The winning team will receive a silver trophy at the close of the season. The present Senior team won the trophy as Freshmen and again as Juniors. They are making every effort to win the trophy for the third successive time.

A similar basketball tournament is being conducted for the girls' class teams. Only one game has been played to date and in this encounter the Seniors trounced the Advanced.

MISS VIVIAN SANDERS

IS FEBRUARY BRIDE

Miss Vivian Sanders, secretary to Superintendent A. A. Dowell for the past four years, was married to Mr. John Schmidt, of Crookston, on February 19. Mr. Schmidt is assistant Polk County Highway Engineer. Following the ceremony the young couple left for a trip to southern Minnesota and Wisconsin. They will make their home at 806 North Front Street, Crookston.

GREATER INTEREST IN

SEED CERTIFICATION

Approximately 205 pure seed growers in the thirteen northwestern counties had seed grain fields inspected for certification this summer. These farms were visited by E. R. Clark, pure seed specialist, and K. W. Erdmann, Breckenridge, assistant inspector. The certification work is carried on by the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, of which the Red River Valley Crops and Soils association is a district branch.

Marquillo wheat led all other varieties in the number of fields inspected. This new rust-resistant variety, first released in 1929, has been an extremely high yielder throughout the Red River Valley counties this season. Many thousands of bushels of excellent seed will be available for seed next spring. Buda and Bison flax also are popular on Northwestern Minnesota farms, and an abundance of good pure seed flax has been produced this year. Anthony oats made extremely high yields this year, many growers reporting 75 to 90 bushels per acre.

Wilkin county has the largest number of growers of certified seed grain this year. Forty-five growers in this county had fields inspected. Western Polk was next with 27 growers, followed by Clay county with 24; Kittson, 23; Norman, 15; Marshall, 15; Pennington, 12; Eastern Polk, 9; Roseau, 8; Eastern Ottertail, 8; Becker, 7; Western Ottertail, 6; and Clearwater, 6.

to Lincoln and showed both the founder and preserver of these United States as true constitutionalists and opposed to both revolution and nullification. The high spot in the address was Lincoln's position on the slavery clause of the Constitution and Fugitive Slave Law. Mr. Robins closed his discussion by pointing out the direct application to the present struggle of the Eighteenth Amendment.

As a fitting climax to the activities of the week the Northwestern Minnesota Singers Association presented their tenth annual song festival Friday evening. Organized in 1922, the Singers' association has enjoyed continuous progress, with ever-improving standard of musicianship. It is composed of 160 male voices from fourteen communities, including Beltrami, Clearbrook, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Erskine, Fertile, Fisher, Fosston, Gonvick, Halstad, McIntosh, Mentor, Winger, and Northwest School.

The eight grand chorus numbers were interspersed with nationality groups dressed in native costume.

Greater Interest in Judging Contests

In line with increased interest in other departments, more teams entered the various judging contests than ever before. A total of 140 individuals compared to a previous high mark of 89, entered the livestock and farm crops contests.

In the livestock judging contest for members of farmers' clubs the Key-west Community club, Polk county, won first, Happy Corner Club, Kittson County, second; Leon Farm Bureau Unit, Clearwater county, third; Kittson Community club, Polk county, fourth; Red River Club, Kittson county, fifth; Garden Township Farm Bureau Unit, Polk county, sixth; Nora Farmers club, Clearwater county, seventh; Crookston-Parnell Farm Bureau Unit, Polk county, eighth; Fairfax-Andover club, Polk County, ninth; and Warrenton club, Marshall county, tenth.

Other teams which took part in the Farmers' Club Livestock Judging Contest were: Gentilly Farm Bureau unit, Polk county; Hobart Community Club, East Ottertail county; Kittson 4-H Club, Kittson county; Mallory 4-H Club, Polk county; Joe River Farmers Club, Kittson county; Lowell 4-H club, Polk county; Angus Community Club, Polk county; Lessor Community Club, Polk county; Lowell Community club, Polk county; Boxville club, Marshall county; West Polk County Judging Team and the Beltrami Boosters, Polk county.

In the Livestock Judging Contest for Smith-Hughes High Schools, Park Rapids High School, for the fourth consecutive year, won first; Barnesville High School, second; Fosston, third; Bemidji, fourth; Warren, fifth; Graf-ton, sixth; Ulen, seventh; Grand Rapids, eighth; and Bagley, ninth.

Club Work Featured

A fifty per cent increase in 4-H club entries, together with many new contests and demonstrations, added greatly to the interest in the boys and girls club department.

The program included special lectures and a leaders' conference conducted by T. A. Erickson, State Club Leader. The entertainment furnished by the Northwest School 4-H Club on Wednesday evening was enjoyed by the visiting club members, especially the one-act play entitled "Goose Money." Demonstrations by Fosston club members on "The Production of Clean Milk" and "Culling Poultry," and an individual demonstration on "Blocking a Sheep," were also well received.

Championship silver trophies were awarded as follows: Lucille Carman, Ada, champion holstein; Bennie Strickler, Euclid, baby beef; Ralph Haugen, Fertile, sheep; Edward Sargent, Crookston, pig; Bennie Strickler, Euclid, calf showmanship contest; Harvey Johnson, Fergus Falls, poultry.

Sheep and pig showmanship contests were conducted for the first time this year, with Lee Munger, Warren, winning the former and John Cheney, Warren, the latter.

Another new contest was the dairy team judging. A Wadena county team consisting of Brooks Naylor, Victor Horn, and Violet Chaffee, won the trophy.

In the general livestock judging contest for 4-H exhibitors, Henry Nelson, Winger, was declared the winner, while the dairy judging contest for exhibitors was won by Albany Capistran, Crookston.

Adolph Wigand and Darrell Morlan, both of Crookston, won first places in the poultry judging and culling contests.

The sweepstakes award in early varieties of potatoes was won by Edward Sargent, Crookston, with his Irish Cobbler potatoes. Jean McLeod, of Goodridge, won similar honors in the late varieties with Russet Burbanks.

Champion Speller Announced

One of the most far-reaching educational events of the week was the Red River Valley Rural School Spelling Contest open to thirteen Northwestern Minnesota counties. Allen Stehman, Becker County, won first with the remarkably high score of 97.49. Mabel A. Hinze, Wilkin County, was second with a score of 96.77; Emily Mae Payne, Clearwater, third, 96.75; Lucilla Kragness, Clay, fourth, 96.73; Elma Scholin, Pennington, fifth, 96.70; Willard Tervo, Red Lake, sixth, 96.65; Margaret Lerud, Norman, seventh, 96.00; Gladys Mickelson, Marshall, eighth, 95.77; Alpha Suby, Roseau, ninth; Ernest Myerchin, Polk, tenth; James Bell, Kittson, eleventh; and Fern Thompson, Mahanomen, twelfth.
