Aggies Win Third Championship Before Home Coming Throng

As a result of victories over the Grand Rapids and Morris Aggies, the Northwest School won the state School of Agriculture football championship for the third consecutive season. Victories were registered over the Grand Rapids eleven by a 26-6 count in a game played at Grand Rapids, Saturday, October 22, and by a score of 13-0 over the Morris team in the annual Home Coming contest held on the Northwest School campus Saturday, October 29. In non-conference tilts, the Northwest School team suffered three defeats at the hands of college elevens. The final scheduled game with the Wahpeton, North Dakota School of Science was cancelled due to unfavorable weather.

The first game of the season was played October 8 when Coach Christgau's warriors went down to defeat at the hands of the more experienced and heavier North Dakota University freshmen team. The final score was 19-0 but the Northwest team demonstrated considerable power in spite of their defeat.

The following Saturday found the Aggies tackling another college freshman team when the yearlings from Concordia College of Moorhead journeyed to the Campus. Once again the Northwest School team suffered defeat but only after offering the stiffest kind of opposition. The final score was 19-12.

The opening conference game was

ALUMNI RETURN FOR HOME COMING

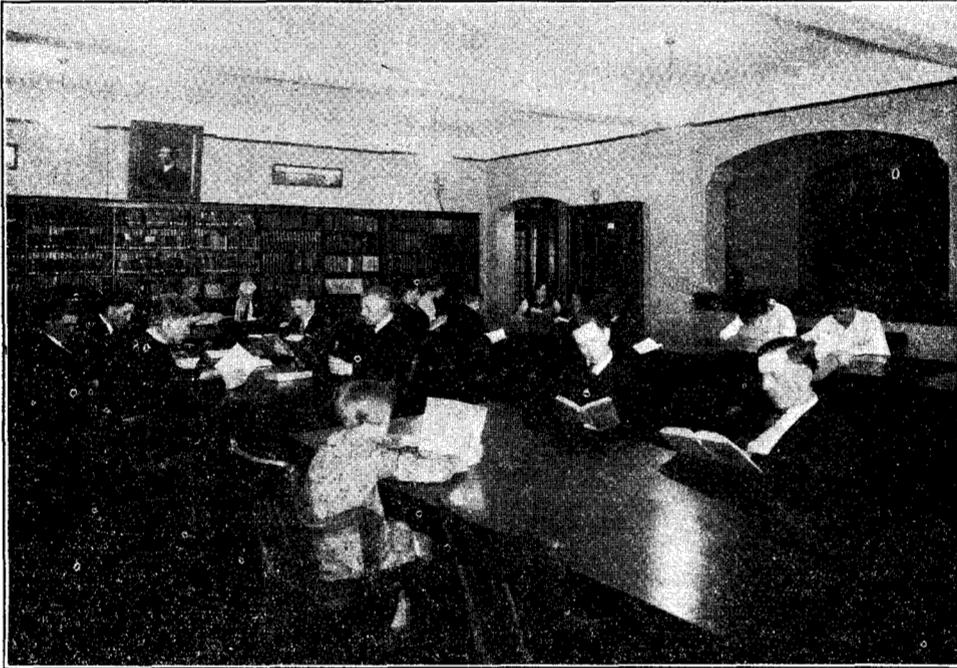

The annual Home Coming reunion took place on the Northwest School campus Saturday, October 29, with many alumni, former students, and friends present to take part in the day's program. Feature events of the day included the football game between the Northwest Aggies and the Morris Aggies in the afternoon, and the alumni Home Coming dance and party.

A heavy snowfall necessitated abandonment of the traditional parade and

Fathers and Mothers Enjoy Parents' Day

Faculty and students of the Northwest School were at home Saturday, November 5, to parents from all parts of Northwestern Minnesota, the occasion being the Thirteenth Annual Parents' Day celebration. This event has developed into one of the most important gatherings of the fall term. During the forenoon guides conducted the visitors through the class and laboratory rooms so that all could familiarize themselves with the work offered by the many departments in Agriculture, Home Economics, Business Training, and Music. At noon the parents were guests of the student body at the annual Parents' Day dinner. A special student program was presented during the afternoon. This session opened with selections by the school orchestra directed by Miss Rose Polski, followed by an address of welcome by Helen Hansen, Crookston; demonstrations by James Rynning, Kennedy, and Esther Haugo, Mahnomon; selections by the girls' glee club; boys' glee club, and mixed chorus; a style show under the direction of Miss Elsie Mae Kingston, and a play directed by Miss Leona Hines. Members of the cast included Richard Johansen, Pitt; Jerome Molacek, Ulen, and Emory KenKnight, Clearbrook.

Late in the afternoon a general reception was held in the Physical Education building, following which parents inspected the Home Project exhibits representing work completed by the students at home during the past summer. The home project show was

MUCH INTEREST IN SUNDAY EVENING PROGRAMS

Excellent attendance has marked the special Sunday evening programs which are held in the school auditorium each week under the joint auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. At the opening session of the year, a sacred concert was presented by members of the Music and English departments. Miss Rose Polski, piano instructor, played Scherzo No. 3 by Chopin, followed by Miss Grace Warne, instructor in violin, with Andante Cantabile from the String Quartet, Opus II by Tschaiakowsky-Auer, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Roy W. Hollander. Readings were presented by Miss Cynthia Weinberger and Miss Leona Hines. Miss Weinberger read "On the Hills Above Nazareth" by Van Dyke, while Miss Hines gave "The Resurrection" by Edwin Arnold.

Students, faculty, and visitors from the city of Crookston expressed their keen appreciation of the entire program, which has become a tradition at the Northwest School.

The second Sunday evening program consisted of a band concert by the Crookston Municipal band under the direction of T. W. Thorson interspersed with selections by the American Legion Auxiliary quartet, and a greeting from the city of Crookston by Mayor Kirkwood. The regular faculty-student audience, together with a large delegation from Crookston, was delighted with the variety as well as the quality of the program as a whole.

Other speakers who have contributed much to the success of the Sunday evening meetings include Reverend William J. Bell, representative of the Board of Christian Education in Minnesota; Reverend P. C. Sorenson, American Sunday School Union, and Reverend G. W. Ford, pastor of the First Church of Christ, Crookston.

Later programs will be presented by other pastors and musical organizations from Crookston, and special student programs given under the direction of Miss Cynthia Weinberger.

AGGIES WIN THIRD CHAMPIONSHIP BEFORE HOMECOMING THROUGH

played at Grand Rapids the third week in October and Christgau's men humbled the North Central outfit by a 26-6 score. Football relations between the two schools began in 1930 and the Northwest School team of that year emerged victorious by a 34-0 count. In the 1931 game another win was recorded for the Crookston team by a score of 37-0. In the 1932 encounter, the Grand Rapids Aggies registered their first score against a Crookston team. Both teams were unable to score during the first quarter, but the local squad chalked up a marker early in the second quarter when a long forward pass from Captain Widseth to Russell Stave, end, was executed over the goal line for a touchdown. Captain Widseth carried the ball over for the extra point. North Central came back with a determined drive that ended in their only score, but the try for the extra point failed. Christgau's men then proceeded to uncover some of the best football of the season. Another completed forward pass, Widseth to Gronner, resulted in the second touchdown early in the third quarter. During the same period, Reese, half-back, scampers over goal for the third marker and in the final period, Captain Widseth plowed through the opposition for the fourth and final touchdown of the game. The entire Northwest team functioned beautifully throughout the contest. Every man on the Crookston line did his part in holding the Grand Rapids eleven and the backfield men found big holes opened up for them on the offense.

The annual Morris game was scheduled for Saturday, October 29, as a part of the Home Coming celebration. The Morris aggregation came north prepared to avenge the 33-0 defeat suffered last year and determined to regain possession of "Ossie," the wooden pig, which is the trophy awarded to the winner of the football game between the two schools. In spite of an exceedingly slippery field resulting from a heavy snowfall the day before, both teams played excellent football. Christgau's men came through on the long end of a 13-0 score, thus extending their winning streak over the Morris School to three consecutive games. Two forward passes, with Captain Widseth on the throwing end in both cases, and Russell Stave and Alvin Gronner as receivers, brought about the only scores of the game. As in the Grand Rapids game, the Northwest team clicked beautifully throughout the contest. Stave's touchdown was scored late in the first quarter, while Gronner's marker was chalked up early in the third period. The Morris team threatened to score only once during the game, that being late in the third quarter when a 50 yard run by Captain Storlie rplaced the ball on the Aggie 15 yard line, but on the next play Morris fumbled and Crookston recovered. The 1932 game was the ninth annual contest between the two schools and the series now stands six victories for Northwest teams and three wins for Morris.

The fifth game of the season, played Friday, November 4, found the Aggies invading the Bemidji Teachers College stronghold at Bemidji. Once again the Aggies found the going too fast against a college team and were forced to bow in defeat with the final score 21-0 in Bemidji's favor. Nine members of the 1932 squad ended their Northwest football careers in this game. They are: Captain Ed. Widseth, McIntosh, star fullback and four year football letter man; Mervin Hagen, Underwood, quarterback; Alvin Gronner, Underwood, end; Kermit Greenley, V. King, halfback; Walter Dorseth, Twin Valley, tackle; Orin Refling, Fertile, center; Arnold and Erling Strand, Twin Valley, tackles; and Nils Stenborg, Clearbrook, center. All are members of the Advanced class and are expected to graduate from the four year course next spring.

JACK MINER TO ADDRESS WINTER SHOWS VISITORS

Winter Shows officials have announced Jack Miner, world famous authority on wild birds, and proprietor of the Jack Miner Bird Sanctuary, Kingsville, Ontario, Canada, as one of the features of the forthcoming educational week February 6-10. Mr. Miner has devoted his life to the study of wild fowl, and was the first to domesticate wild geese. His illustrated address is expected to attract visitors from all parts of Northwestern Minnesota, where the people are taking an increasing interest in the conservation of wild fowl, fish and game.

For a number of years members of the Izaak Walton League have asked that Jack Miner be invited to attend an annual Valley reunion. Though he has received many invitations, this is the first time that the Winter Shows could be included in his speaking program.

Jack Miner's illustrated address will be delivered Wednesday evening, February 8.

CLARK REPORTS CROP YIELDS

The highest yielding varieties of wheat in the 1932 trials at the Northwest Experiment Station were Ceres, Reliance, Reward, Hope, Marquis and Marquillo, in the order named, according to a report issued by E. R. Clark, acting Agronomist. Black stem rust did not develop sufficiently to cause serious damage, and rust resistant varieties failed to surpass the rust-susceptible wheat in yielding performance. Wheat stem maggot was especially destructive this season, as in the past two years.

The four-year averages (1929-32) for spring wheat were as follows: Ceres, 29.7 bushels; Reliance, 29.4; Hope, 26.8; Reward, 26.5; Marquis, 25.3; and Marquillo, 25.2. In seasons when stem rust is destructive, resistant varieties, such as Marquillo, Ceres, and Hope would be expected to outyield Reliance, Reward, and Marquis, which are susceptible.

Mindum, the best durum variety, has outyielded Kubanka by 3.6 bushels as an average during the last four years.

Among the oats varieties, a double cross known as Minnesota No. 742 led in yielding performance, with 62.9

bushels per acre. Gopher was second highest yielder with 61.1 bushels; followed by Anthony, 58.4; Rainbow, 57.3; and Minrus, 57.2. The three-year averages (1930-32) for these varieties were: Anthony, 67.4 bushels; Minrus, 65.9; Rainbow, 64.6. and Gopher 60.8. Minnesota No. 742 was tested this year for the first time in varietal plots.

Trebi again demonstrated its superior yielding ability by producing 41.9 bushels per acre; compared with Wisconsin No. 38, 35.9 bushels; Velvet, 32.1; Glabron, 26.2; and Peatland, 25.3. The highest yielding varieties, in average performance during the last four years, were: Trebi, 38.6 bushels; Velvet, 34.8; Svansota, 34.8; Glabron, 33.4, and Peatland, 32.4. Wisconsin No. 38, a smooth-awned variety maturing several days later than Velvet, has been tested only two years at the Northwest Station.

ALUMNI RETURN FOR HOME COMING

Widseth, Athletic Chairman T. M. McCall and Superintendent A. A. Dowell. Arthur Grove '31 responded for the alumni. The school orchestra contributed to the program with several appropriate selections. At the dinner hour, the dining hall continued to re-echo with "Beat Morris" and "Keep Ossie Here."

By the time the game was called in the afternoon, the Northwest School rooting section was strengthened by the many alumni who were on hand to urge the team on to their third consecutive football victory over Morris. Ossie, the inter-school trophy, occupied a prominent spot on the sidelines. After four quarters of hard playing, the Northwest team was rewarded with a 13-0 victory and Captain Widseth immediately took possession of Ossie and returned him to his favorite resting place for another year.

A special get-together dinner for the visiting team and alumni was held in the dining hall following the game. Messages from former students, alumni and faculty were read. Telegrams from Miss Ruth Sheldon, school nurse now located at Eklutna, Alaska, and from Mr. R. S. Dunham, now on leave for graduate study at the University of Minnesota, urging the team on to victory, were received with great applause. Short speeches were made by Coach R. J. Christgau, Coach A. C. Heine, Captain Ed Widseth and Captain Storlie. Many alumni were called upon for brief remarks.

The evening program consisted of the annual alumni dance in the gymnasium and the party in the cafeteria. The campus presented a beautiful picture with Home Coming decorations in evidence on every hand. Senior Hall was voted first place in the building decorations. Many alumni who were not able to be present for the game in the afternoon arrived in time for the evening program. "Home Coming" has become one of the most important events of the school year, and the latest reunion will long be remembered by all who were able to attend.

BABY BEEF TRIAL UNDER WAY

One of the major activities of the Northwest Experiment Station has been to secure information as to the comparative merits of various feeds for fattening beef cattle. This work which has been carried on for a number of years has included feeding trials with two-year-olds, yearlings and calves. O. M. Kiser, Station Animal Husbandman, has just announced the beginning of the 1932-33 cattle feeding investigations which started November 15 with 32 high grade Hereford calves, divided into four lots of eight calves each. These calves were purchased on the South St. Paul market and arrived at the Station November 2. At the beginning of the trial, the average weight of the calves was approximately 410 pounds each.

Feeds that will be used in the trial this year are rye, barley, molasses beet pulp, linseed oilmeal and sweet clover hay. All lots will be fed sweet clover hay with linseed oilmeal added at the rate of 1½ pounds per head daily. The grain rations for Lot 1 will be ground rye; Lot 2, 50% ground rye and 50% molasses beet pulp; Lot 3, ground barley; Lot 4, 50% ground barley and 50% molasses beet pulp. The molasses beet pulp and the grain will be mixed in equal proportions by weight, the beet pulp being fed dry.

Rye was fed in the trial that ended in June 1932. The object in feeding rye again this year is to secure further information regarding the feeding value of this grain for fattening calves. As considerable acreages of beets are grown in the Red River Valley, it seemed advisable to secure information on the feeding value of molasses beet pulp.

Results will be announced at the annual Livestock Feeders' Day meeting to be held at the Station next June.

SUCCESSFUL JUNIOR LIVESTOCK SHOW

The fifteenth annual Junior Livestock show held at South St. Paul the first week in November surpassed all previous efforts with 940 boys and girls taking part. According to District Club Leader H. A. Pflughoeft, the quality of the exhibits on the average was also a little better than other years. The entries in this great junior classic were as follows: baby beef, 355; lambs, 265; hogs, 149; market poultry, 91, and breeding poultry, 77. This was an increase of twenty in beef, 29 in lambs, and a slight gain in poultry and hogs.

The prices paid at the auction sale at the conclusion of the show were higher than many had hoped for. Especially gratifying were the prices paid for poultry. The grand champion turkeys, owned by Verona Ehlen, Red Wing, sold for eighty cents a pound, with an average of forty cents a pound for all turkeys sold. The average for ducks and geese was 25 cents a pound, no market poultry selling lower than 21 cents. The grand champion steer, exhibited by Edward Sinisek, Lonsdale, brought 44 cents, netting him approximately $570. The grand champion hog sold for forty cents a pound, which was ten cents more than was paid last year. Lucille Barsness, Starbuck, was the owner. Harvey Harder's champion grade Shropshire lamb sold for $1.75 a pound.

Northwestern Minnesota, with more entries than last year, made a creditable showing in all departments. In a class of 23 purebred Shorthorn calves, Lester Lerud, Twin Valley, placed third. Ben and William Strickler, Euclid, placed third and fourth with 31 competing in the purebred yearling class. It will be remembered that Bennie had the reserve champion steer in 1931. Leland Hanson, Twin Valley, who last year had the champion Shorthorn at the show, placed fourth in his class. Edward Hirst, Warren, won second with a grade Shropshire in a class of 94. In the hog classes, Edward Eidschenck, Detroit Lakes, won second in the Duroc Jersey class. Marion Kern, Wadena, placed second with a spotted Poland China, and Burton Anderson, Hallock, also took second with his Yorkshires. In the poultry division, Hazel Melin, Wylie, placed second with his Yorkshire. In the poultry division, Hazel Melin, Wylie, placed second with her bronze turkeys, and Clement Blasey, Ada, won second with his Buff Orpington chickens.

The following Northwest School students were at the show, having earned their trips through local competition: Robert Toomey, Thief River Falls; Gordon Clow, Orleans; Edward Sargent, Crookston; Harold and Arthur Sanden, Beaulieu, and Lester Lerud, Twin Valley. Former students winning trips were: Allen Hoff, Irvin Strande, Arnold Gredvig, Herbert Nisbet, Bennie and William Strickler.

VALLEY DAIRYMEN HOLD MEET

The Red River Valley Dairymen's association, which has the distinction of being the oldest of the valley wide agricultural organizations, held its twenty-ninth annual meeting in Crookston the third week of November.

Activities opened with the Creamery Operators' banquet and dance on the evening of November 16. Leonard Houske, former secretary of the Dairymen's association, and more recently State Secretary of the Minnesota Creamery Operators' and Managers' association, presided as toastmaster.

The following day was devoted to addresses by leading dairy authorities, followed by the presentation of special trophies and awards. T. A. Hoverstad, Superintendent of the Northwest Experiment Station from 1895 to 1905, and the first President of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, was present throughout the two-day session and contributed much to the success of the annual meeting. Speakers included A. J. Glover, Editor of Hoard's Dairyman, Fort Atkinson, Wis., who spoke on "The Drag of an Industry"; A. J. McGuire, General Manager of Land O' Lakes, who discussed "The Land O' Lakes System of Marketing Dairy and Poultry Products through the Retail Stores of the East"; Axel Meyerton, President of the Northwest Creamery Owners' association, Minneapolis, who spoke on "Disregarded Responsibilities"; A. D. Sibbald, Editor of the Creamery Operator, St. Paul, "What Would Constitute a Satisfactory Definition for Sweet Cream Butter"; and R. A. Trovatten, Commissioner, State Agriculture Dairy and Food, whose topic was "Dairy Herd Improvement."

During the day two separate contests were staged in the Crookston Creamery, one in the nature of a Butter Judging contest, and the other a Butter Makers' Contest. Judges of these events included Ole Storvik, Albert Lea; C. W. Fryhofer, Minneapolis; M. E. Gardner, Anoka; Sever Lee, Crookston; O. C. Johnson, Brainerd; T. T. Bacheller, Forest Lake, and Chas. Ommodt, Detroit Lakes.

At the closing session, a number of special prizes and awards were presented to leading dairymen and creamery operators from seventeen Northwestern Minnesota counties.

Fourteen dairy farmers were awarded the distinction of Honor Dairymen, each receiving a beautiful bronze plaque of a dairy cow mounted on a walnut background. The list of honor dairymen included W. H. Frey, Perham; John Swentik, Baudette; Erick Anderson & Son, Clearbrook; A. R. Knutson, Pelican Rapids; J. W. Oleson, Fertile; Ed. B. Dunhan, Wannaska; Ralph Sutton, Menahga; Frank Thul, Bagley; Lundin Estate, Stephen; S. M. Skrove & Son, Dalton; Louie Erkey, Aldrich; Wright and Pierce, Fergus Falls; Stuart McLeod, Thief River Falls.

A. J. Vorgert, Bluffton, won first prize in the Class I butter contest with a score of 94.50; Herman Maltrud, Ada; second; Oliver Peterson, Goodridge, third; together with five gold medal winners: Jas. A. Christianson, Goodridge; M. Sorenson, Pelican Rapids; Sam Rierison, Grvøla; T. Clausen, Pelican Rapids, and Henry Ommodt, Flom.

Winners in Class 2 included Henry C. Werbes, Ottertail, first, with a score of 94.00; E. E. Rosenberg, Aldrich, second; Egan Dunham, Argyle, third, followed by A. Maltrud, Fertile; W. J. Peterson, Middle River; U. G. Cox, Vining; Fergus Cooperative Creamery, Fergus Falls; C. H. Markuson, Henning.

Winners in the butter judging contest, which is always a feature of the Dairymen's annual convention, included Arthur Maltrud of the Sundahl Creamery, Fertile, first; Theodore E. Olson, Shevlin, and Henry Anderson Viking.

Directors whose term of office expired this year included C. M. Pesek, Secretary, and O. O. Heggeness, Fergus Falls, treasurer. These officers were re-elected. A. A. Dowell is President of the organization; Stuart McLeod, Thief River Falls, first vice president, and H. E. Osgood, Erhard, second vice president.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Meyer (Clarance '23) of Red Lake Falls are the parents of a baby daughter born Monday, October 31.

WINTER SHOWS JUDGES ANNOUNCED

Dean W. C. Coffey, University Farm, St. Paul, will again head the delegation of judges who will make the awards at the twenty-third annual Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows to be held February 6-10, 1933. Dean Coffey has the distinction of having assisted with every Winter Shows meeting since he was appointed Dean of the University Department of Agriculture in 1921. Other judges in the livestock department include W. H. Peters who will make the awards in the beef cattle division; Wm. E. Morris, judge of hogs, and E. A. Hanson, dairy cattle.

In the Farm Crops section, A. C. Army and Dr. Iver Johnson of University Farm, and Professor T. E. Stoa of the North Dakota Agricultural College, will judge exhibits of corn, grains and grasses.

According to Winter Shows officials, livestock and farm crops judging contests will feature the opening day of the week. Judges of the school of agriculture, agricultural high school, and farm club contests will include C. L. McNelly, District County Agent leader, who will have charge of the dairy cattle classes; C. M. Kelehan, Ottertail county agent, beef cattle; Wm. R. Page, county agent of Grand Forks county, North Dakota, hogs; J. W. Taylor, Roseau county agent, sheep, and R. M. Douglass, Pennington county agent horses. Dr. H. K. Wilson and R. F. Crim of University Farm will supervise the inter-school crops judging contest.

Business Manager John Saugstad states that the official premium list will be available for general distribution early in January.
