500 Parents Guests of School

Project Awards Announced

More than five hundred parents of the students at the Northwest School of Agriculture were guests of the students and faculty at the School on Saturday, November 2. The parents visited classes during the morning and were the guests of the students and school at the noonday dinner. More than two hundred students demonstrated, in the afternoon program, the accomplishments of the summer project work. Miss Lorraine Capistran of Argyle announced the style revue in which eighty girls modeled dresses they had made during the summer. Donald Nelson of Kennedy was master of ceremonies in a series of broadcast interviews with students in boys' home project work. The school band, orchestra, boys' and girls' glee clubs, mixed chorus, and school choir provided music for the program. Students of the Advanced class presented a one-act play "The Pot Boiler" with the following cast of characters: Odney Flaata, Fisher; Martin Egeland, Fisher; Joan Phillips, Noyes; Patricia Johnson, Baudette; Karlton Rosholt, Pelican Rapids; Milton Ellinger, Crookston.

The parents of the students formed the Northwest School Parents' Association with more than five hundred parents taking part in the organization. Officers elected for the year were: President—Ole A. Flaata, Fisher; vice president—J. H. Sargent, Crookston; secretary-treasurer—Martin Larson of Crookston. Directors elected for each county included: MARSHALL—Mr. Gylfe Anderson, Grygla; PENNINGTON—Mr. August Scholin, Thief River Falls; RED LAKE—Mrs. J. E. Johnson, Red Lake Falls; POLK—Mr. Ed Ellinger, Crookston; NORMAN—Emil Lerud, Twin Valley; MAHNOMEN—Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Mahnomen; BECKER—Arthur Hanson, Detroit Lakes; CLEARWATER—Mrs. C. R. Brandt, Gonvick; LAKE OF WOODS—Clarence Johnson, Baudette; ROSEAU—Magnus Magnusson, Roseau; KITTSON—Mrs. C. A. Phillips, Noyes. The committee on organization consisted of Mrs. C. A. Phillips, Noyes; Mr. Herbert Johnston, Angus; and Mr. J. H. Sargent of Crookston.

The Home Project Show held in conjunction with the Parents' Day program on November 2 was judged the outstanding show in recent years. According to Superintendent T. M. McCall

School Observes Thanksgiving Holiday

Students at the Northwest School spent Thanksgiving and the weekend at their homes this year for the first time since the organization of the School. The Thanksgiving program, however, was held at the regular school assembly on Wednesday, November 20, with the Reverend Mr. Willard H. Reeves of the Presbyterian Church as speaker.

Music for the Thanksgiving program was provided by the school orchestra and choir under the leadership of Miss Marion Frykman and Miss Elvira Bierbauer respectively. The orchestra presented "Praise Be to God"—Choral, and "Soldier's Chorus" from Faust. Eugene Musselman of Crookston read the Thanksgiving proclamation; Superintendent T. M. McCall spoke on "Thanksgiving Day Traditions at the Northwest School"; and the school choir sang "Now Thank We All Our God" by Cruger.

The students at the Northwest School voted this year to attend classes on the Armistice Day holiday in order to get the Friday holiday following Thanksgiving. Approximately twenty students remained on the campus during the Thanksgiving weekend. The traditional all-school turkey dinner formerly served on Thanksgiving Day will be held at the "get-together dinner" before the Christmas holidays. Students remaining over the holidays had their Thanksgiving turkey in the Aggie Inn of the dining hall.

Members of staff remaining on the campus joined with campus families in observance of Thanksgiving Day.

'40 Aggie Given

First Class Rating

The 1940 Aggie of the Northwest School won a 'first class' rating in the National Scholastic Press Association contest according to a recent Associated Press dispatch from Minneapolis. The high ranking given the "Aggie" reflects praise to all who were associated together in its publication. Congratulations from the school are extended to the editor-in-chief, Ed McMillan; associate editors, Louise Krogstad, Gladys Vesledahl and other members of the Aggie Board faculty committee on school publications and faculty class advisers. Miss Martha Manning and J. W. Mlinar comprise the committee on School Publications; Miss Grace Warne and R. S. Dunham were the class advisers.

Midsemester Honor Roll Announced

The honor and high scholarship rolls for the midsemester at the Northwest School, released by Registrar J. W. Mlinar, show a total of fifty-six names of students from Red River Valley counties. Miss Berneil Nelson of Hallock, a Junior, has the highest honor rating.

The honor roll by classes includes the following: (2.5 points or above): FRESHMEN: Jaroslav Kruta, Gatzke; Doris Boehmer, Pelican Rapids; David Vilven, Euclid; JUNIORS: Berneil Nelson, Hallock; Clara Syverson, McIntosh; Roland Morrison, Dalton; Harold Aasland, Warroad. SENIORS: Harry Christianson, Crookston; Marion Nelson, Fergus Falls; Paul Auer, Waubun. ADVANCED: Verner Nelson, Euclid; Donald Nelson, Kennedy; Camilla Ecklund, Hallock; SPECIAL: JoAnne Bierbauer, Mankato.

The Senior class leads the other classes with sixteen students in the high scholarship group. Students listed by classes in the high scholarship roll include: (2.00 points through 2.5 points): FRESHMEN: Audrey Hylland, Grygla; Donald Boutain, Red Lake Falls; Marjorie Ofstedahl, Plummer. JUNIORS: Howard Anderson, Fisher; Karlton Knutson, Ashby; Donald Milner, Clearbrook; Harold W. Anderson, Argyle; Ethel Fimrite, Goodridge; Leonard Yutzenka, Argyle; Donald Hanson, Trail; Henry Hoff, Fergus Falls; Alice Reitmeier, Crookston; Grace Hagen, Gatzke; Garnet Balstad, Fosston; Robert Grenier, Red Lake Falls. SENIORS: Gilbert Reese, Humboldt; Einar Scholin, Thief River Falls; Steffie Pastuck, Hallock; Marlowe Moe, Lancaster; William Pastuck, Hallock; Jay Bergh, Hallock; Clarence Sargent, Crookston; Harold Lambert, Hallock; Doris Sjostrand, Hallock; Harold Loyd, Argyle; Joan Phillips, Noyes; Wm. ating organizations included: E. W. Spring, Crookston, Red River Valley Development Association; A. A. Habedank, Ada, Red River Valley Livestock Association; C. M. Pesek of Crookston, Red River Valley Dairymen's Association; R. S. Dunham, Crookston, Red River Valley Crops and Soils Association; Harold Thomforde, Crookston, Northern Minnesota Poultry Association; J. J. Flynn, Crookston Association of Public Affairs. Treasurer, E. W. Spring, reported the finances of the Board in good shape and sufficient funds on hand to take care of all preliminary expenses for the 1941 Shows.

Only minor changes in the premium list were suggested. The request of the Livestock Association that advertising be eliminated from the premium list and that lists be released by December first was approved. It was agreed to have a business agent for the Board to act prior to and including Winter Shows week.

President T. M. McCall announced that judges for the shows and speakers for the day meetings had been engaged, according to the suggestions made by the cooperating organizations. One speaker, Wilfred Laurier Husband, has already been secured for the evening meetings; he will speak on Friday, February 7, on "The Far East". Other speakers are to be booked in the next few weeks. It was also agreed to invite in to the meetings outstanding amateur music groups from the Red River Valley counties. Annual meetings of county agents, livestock, potato, and wool growers are scheduled for the week, with recognition banquets planned for the newly elected Honor Livestock Breeders and the Development Association's Valley Farmer and Homemakers from each county.

The action of the Red River Valley Livestock Association in setting the date for the annual Livestock Sale to Friday, February 7, was unanimously approved.

The Red River Valley Livestock Association directors, at their meeting on November first, elected Paul Engelstad of Thief River Falls as superintendent of the cattle department and general superintendent of the livestock show. Other departmental superintendents elected were: R. M. Stolen, McIntosh, swine; W. O. Woodman, Crookston, 4-H club livestock; Lester Lerud, Thief River Falls, 4-H crops; George Landsverk, Ada, sheep; R. J. Christgau, Crookston, horses; Carl Ash, Crookston, day admissions. Minor rule changes sought by the swine exhibitors were adopted and in the cattle division the fat steer class in the adult or open class was dropped. Members of the board of directors and advisory board present included: T. M. McCall, president; J. H. Sargent, vice president; O. M. Kiser, secretary, all of Crookston; A. A. Habedank, Ada, treasurer; E. E. Carman, Ada; H. M. Dale, Moorhead; H. A. Pflughoeft, Crookston; William Strickler, Euclid; Carl Ash, Crookston; and C. O. Gunhus, Fosston.

Football Season Closes

A review of the Northwest School's 1940 football season shows a record of three victories and three defeats. Victories were gained over Crookston High (13-0); Grand Rapids Aggies (26-0); and Park River Aggies (58-0). Defeats were handed the Northwest Aggies by Concordia Frosh (6-0); Bemidji State Teachers, (27-0) and the Morris Aggies (14-6).

In Minnesota Ag School Conference games the Crookston Aggies finished in second place with one victory and one defeat.

The 1940 season opened on Saturday, October 5. The Northwest School eleven played excellent football in the season's opener to defeat the Crookston High Pirates 13-0.

In the second game of the season, the Northwest Aggies received some tough breaks which affected the team play for the remainder of the season. Besides losing a close game by a 6-0 score after having outplayed their opponents, the Concordia Frosh, throughout the entire game, the Aggies saw three of the four regular backfield men, Captain Lloyd Lund, halfback; Telfred Slettvedt, quarterback, and Martin Egeland, fullback, receiving injuries which kept them out of part or most of the remaining games on the schedule.

The season's schedule originally called for Moorhead State Teachers Frosh as opposition for the third game of the season but this contest was cancelled and the Frosh of Bemidji Teachers' were substituted. With three-fourths of the Aggie backfield being inexperienced men, the Northwest eleven was outclassed 27-0 by a heavier and more experienced team. But the contest provided the necessary experience to the Aggie backfield replacements to give them a chance to show their wares in the next two games of the season.

In the annual "jug" game with Grand Rapids the Crookston eleven triumphed 26-0 to retain possession of the football trophy between the two schools and to gain a victory in the Ag School Conference. The game was played at Grand Rapids. Northwest touchdowns were scored by Nybo, Loyd, Beucler and McMillan.

The fifth game of the season played on the Northwest campus against the Park River, N. D., Aggies was a complete rout. The Northwest eleven scored at will, garnering nine touchdowns and four field goals to pile up a 58-0 score. Northwest touchdowns were scored as follows: Lund 2, Loyd 2, Beucler 2, Egeland, McMillan and Risbrudt 1.

The final game of the 1940 season was the feature event of the annual Homecoming celebration on the Northwest campus, Saturday, November 9. Despite very cold weather a surprisingly large number of alumni were on hand for the clash with the traditional rivals, the Morris Aggies. The West Central school team arrived in time to take part in the Homecoming assembly and to give to many of the Northwest School students their first glimpse of

Seven Students Win Trips To Livestock Show

Seven students from the Northwest School won free trips to the Junior Livestock Show, held October 28-31 at South St. Paul, with 4-H club project animals. A special recognition assembly was held on November 27 for the winners of the free trips. T. M. McCall, superintendent, paid tribute to the boys who were blue ribbon winners in their county 4-H club contests. Mr. H. A. Pflughoeft, district 4-H club agent, gave a resume of the accomplishments of 4-H clubs in the Red River Valley in 1940 and conducted a panel discussion of club work with the winners of the trips to the Junior Livestock Show. Five lambs and two beef calves entered in the Show sold for a total of $419.85. Clarence Sargent of Crookston, winning eighth place in the fat lamb class, sold his lamb for fifty cents per pound; Lyle Clow of Hallock won a gold watch for first place in showmanship in the lamb class and was able to sell his lamb for forty-five cents per pound. Howard Heitman, Ada, had the distinction of getting the largest amount from his project, $136.50. Howard's Hereford beef calf, which weighed 1050 pounds, sold for thirteen cents per pound. Henry Hoff of Fergus Falls sold his beef calf for 13.75 cents per pound, but with a small calf, his gross return was $95.00. From his fat lamb, Robert Anderson of Mahanomen received $41.00; Roland Morrison of Fergus Falls received $13.85 for his lamb; Vernon Hurd of Bagley sold his 250 pound pig at the sale for 14.6 cents per pound.

The boys concluded in their program that their time had been profitably spent in their 4-H club project and that much valuable information on livestock feeding and management had been gained.

FOOTBALL SEASON CLOSSES

"Ossie" the wooden pig trophy between the two schools. "Ossie", after several years of life on the Northwest campus, moved to Morris one year ago as a result of a 13-12 West Central victory in 1939.

When the game got underway the Northwest eleven was the first to score by virtue of a forward pass, Egeland to Lund. Late in the second quarter, the Morris eleven pushed over a touchdown and led at the half-way mark 7-6. The third period was scoreless and when the final quarter was but a few minutes old the Northwest eleven was on the march carrying the ball from its own 25 yard line to the Morris 20 yard line. Here a forward pass was not only intercepted by Morris but was carried 80 yards for a Morris touchdown. The final score was 14-6 and "Ossie" returned to Morris.

With the many players used by Coach Christgau during the past season, the 1941 prospects are far from gloomy. Valuable men, gaining additional experience in the 1940 season, will undoubtedly be the nucleus of a strong team next season.

Homecoming Well Attended

Homecoming this year at the Northwest School was delayed until November 9 to enable the Northwest Aggies to meet a Minnesota Agricultural School Conference rival on the home field. A large crowd of alumni and former students returned for the game, the Homecoming program, dance and party. Special committees did excellent work in decorating the dormitories and school buildings. The maroon and gold window lighting effects in the dormitories were colorful and unique.

The celebration began with the torch light parade to the bonfire where the pep fest was held on Friday night. The school band led the parade and furnished accompaniment for the school songs. Speeches were made by Superintendent T. M. McCall, Coaches R. J. Christgau and B. Swan, Captain Lloyd Lund, and members of the team.

At the Homecoming assembly, members of the football teams of Morris and Crookston were introduced by coaches A. C. Heine and R. J. Christgau, respectively. Superintendent Theodore Fenske of the West Central School, Morris, responded to the address of welcome of Superintendent McCall. Members of the cross-country team were introduced by Coach E. F. Bennett. J. W. Mlinar introduced alumni and read messages from alumni and friends of the school. The outstanding entertainment number of the Homecoming program was the "Surprise Symphony" by the Ossie-lators with R. S. Dunham as accompanist.

The Homecoming banquet was served in the main dining room at the school dining hall with Superintendent T. M. McCall as toastmaster. Coaches R. J. Christgau, B. F. Swan, and E. F. Bennett, Superintendent Theodore Fenske, and Coaches A. C. Heine and Glenn Prickett of Morris, and captains of football and cross-country teams responded to toasts at the banquet. The Homecoming dance in the gymnasium and the party in the Aggie Inn concluded the celebration of the day.
