Mural Paintings Presented to School

Two large mural paintings depicting the "Landing of the Norsemen in North America" and "The Signing of the Old Crossing Treaty", painted by John Martin Socha of St. Paul, were formally presented to the Northwest School by the graduating class of 1932. The murals were presented as a feature of the Parents' Day program held in the auditorium of the Northwest School on Saturday, November 7. Ed Widseth of Minneapolis, president of the Class of 1932 at the Northwest School, appointed Miss Eleanor Torkelson of Crookston to give the presentation address.

Miss Torkelson read the congratulatory letter from Dr. A. A. Dowell of St. Paul, former superintendent of the Northwest School, who with Mrs. Dowell acted as counsellors for the 1932 class.

Superintendent T. M. McCall, in accepting the paintings for the University, called attention to the historical significance of the two murals. Mr. McCall pointed out the fact that the site for the signing of the Old Crossing Treaty was located only thirteen miles northeast of the School of Agriculture and that of the State, Red Lake County, and Fed-

Many Attend Homecoming

The annual Homecoming of alumni and former students at the Northwest School on Saturday, October 31, was voted a great success with more than one hundred and twenty-five returning for the event. The festivities began with the torchlight procession and bonfire on Friday evening and continued with the Homecoming assembly program on Saturday morning in the school auditorium, the Conference football game with the West Central Aggies and cross-country run in the afternoon, banquet in the school dining hall at six o'clock, and the Homecoming dance and party on Saturday evening.

The traditional torchlight parade, led by the school band and Pepster organization, made a tour of the campus serenading Superintendent and Mrs. T. M. McCall, the football team, and Coach and Mrs. H. E. Roese. "Pep talks" were given by Superintendent McCall and Coach Roese, Captain Darwin Ferrier of the Northwest Aggies and members of the football squad. At the bonfire, which was prepared by the Freshmen class, cheer leader Phyllis Gilbertson of Hawley called on former "Aggie" football players and other alumni for "pep" talks preparatory to the burning of the traditional goat.

At the Homecoming Assembly, Superintendent T. M. McCall gave the address of welcome to the West Central football team; Coach A. C. Heine of the West Central School "Aggies" intro-

Yields of Grain Crops in 1942

An unprecedented demand for information on improved varieties of farm crops has been made on the Northwest Experiment Station. In order to answer the many questions on performance of small grain and flax varieties, Mr. R. S. Dunham, agronomist, has compiled the 1942 yields of crops with summaries for the past two and three-year periods. Many varieties of crops grown in the Experiment Station trials have not been approved as recommended varieties for Minnesota. The general performance record of a crop grown only one or two years may be indicative of the possibilities of the crop but cannot constitute a qualified endorsement of the variety for general planting.

The following tables give yields of the variety trials at the Northwest Experiment Station for 1942 and as an average of two or three years. Small differences of less than two bushels should not be considered of any great significance.

Although yielding ability is important, there are other characters which should be considered when choosing a variety. A few of the faults or virtues of some varieties are as follows: Thatcher—susceptible to leaf rust but stiff straw; Mindum—weak straw and susceptible to some forms of stem rust but makes excellent macaroni; Rival—weak straw and tendency to shatter but good bushel weight; Regent—milling quality unknown at present but very resistant to stem and leaf rust; Pilot 13—weak straw but excellent yielder.

Gopher—susceptible to stem and crown rust but early and stiff strawed; Iogold—yellow oat but resistant to stem rust; Minrus—taller than Gopher and stiff straw; Rusota—susceptible to crown rust but excellent yielder in years without it; Nakota—hull-less but hard to store; Vanguard—very susceptible to crown rust but good yielder and good bushel weight; Vicland and Tama—resistant to crown rust, stem rust, and smut but yellow.

Manchuria—rough awned and poor yielder; Peatland—rough awned and not always acceptable for malting but stiff strawed and resistant to stem rust, loose smut, and covered smut; Velvet—weak straw and tendency to shatter but smooth awned and good malting variety; Wisconsin 38—weak straw and late but excellent yielder; O. A. C. 21—weak straw and undesirable for malting in U. S. but very desirable in Canada;

Gartons—weak straw and rough awned but resistant to stem rust.

Redwing—low yielder and moderately rust resistant but early and high oil quality; Bison—rust susceptible but wilt resistant; Biwing—only moderately rust resistant but better than Bison; Koto—not entirely rust resistant but wilt resistant and tall; B. Selection 1045—not entirely uniform in plant type but resistant to wilt and rust; Cirrus—fiber flax; B. Golden and Viking—short straw and moderately wilt resistant but very resistant to rust; B. Golden 976 and 977—late maturing but good height and very resistant to rust; Walsh—late maturing, poor oil, and usually poor yielder but resistant to rust.

eral government, and citizens of the community had erected a monument and made a State Park to commemorate the signing of the Treaty with the Chippewa Indian on October 2, 1863. A granddaughter of Chief Little Boy, a signer of the treaty, Mrs. C. A. Smith of Grygla whose daughter, Myrtle, is a resident at the school, was present for the ceremonies.

The mural paintings were made possible through the efforts of State Art Director, Mr. Clement Haupers of the Works Progress Administration. The paintings are considered the best works of the artist John Martin Socha, whose murals adorn the walls of the Federal Reserve Bank in Minneapolis, auditorium at the Winona State Teachers' College, New Ulm High School, St. Luke's Catholic Church of St. Paul, and St. Paul Park High School.

Armistice Day Program Held

The traditional Armistice Day memorial exercises were held at the Northwest School on Wednesday, November 11, with members of Company I and Veterans organizations of Crookston co-operating on the program.

The following program was presented in the school auditorium: Song—"America the Beautiful" sung by audience; "Meaning of Armistice Day to Northwest School Students"—Superintendent T. M. McCall; selection "On Wings of Song"—Mendelssohn by girls' glee club; memorial address by the Reverend Mr. J. G. Lewis of Crookston; National anthem "The Star Spangled Banner" sung by audience.

The march to the monument for the placing of the wreath followed the program in the auditorium. The procession to the monument was led by the color bearers, color guard and firing squad followed in order by the president of the Senior class, Robert Phillips, faculty, Advanced, Senior, and Freshmen classes. The address at the monument was given by Robert Phillips, of Noyes, who placed the wreath in memory of the eight boys from the Northwest School who lost their lives during the last World War. The program closed with the firing of the salute and taps.

Potato Storage Problems

According to J. H. Wampole, horticulturist at the Northwest Experiment Station, hard fall frosts in the upper part of the Red River Valley together with some late potato blight have complicated the problem of potato storage for many farmers. The work of saving the potato crop through the use of inexperienced pickers resulted in poor field grading on many farms.

Sorting at harvest time probably did not remove all the potato tubers infected with late blight rot and frost injury; therefore, further sorting of the stored potatoes is recommended inasmuch as there has been some difficulty in lowering the temperature in many storage houses.

The best temperature range for table stock potatoes is 36° to 40° F. Seed

Aggies Win Conference Football Championship; Take Second In Track

The Northwest School Aggies completed their football schedule with one win and three losses, but the one win was over the Morris Aggies and determined the Conference championship. The other Ag schools had no football squads this fall.

With Coach R. J. Christgau leaving shortly before the school term opened, the football boys began their training without a regular coach but were assisted by the track coach, E. F. Bennett. Before the end of the first week of school, however, Superintendent T. M. McCall secured James Miles, a member of the Varsity of the University of North Dakota to assist with the coaching during the fall harvest closing of the University. With only four days of coaching, the Northwest Aggies held Crookston High to 14 points in a 14-7 game.

The new coach and athletic director, Harry E. Roese, arrived four days before the second game of the season which was played against Cathedral High of Crookston. The Aggies lost to Cathedral by the close score of 8-7, with the Cathedral's winning touchdown coming in the final seconds of the game.

In the Homecoming game, with the Morris Aggies, the boys reached their peak and ran up the impressive score of 46-0 to take the Conference title. Every member of the squad played superior ball with top honors going to Theodore Kroulik who scored 25 points and passed for 13 additional centers. The following week against the Bemidji State Teachers College freshmen squad, the tables were reversed with the Teachers winning by the same score 46-0. It was a good practice game but the locals could not muster the weight which the collegians carried. The final game of the season, against St. James Academy of Grand Forks, was cancelled by the Forkers because of impending bad weather.

The cross-country squad was also

Thanksgiving Holidays, Nov. 26-27

The faculty, students, and parents by unanimous vote on Parents' Day, November 7, decided to have classes on Armistice Day, November 11, and take the extra holiday on Friday, November 27. It was agreed that the traditional Armistice Day program be held.

Parents of Northwest School students were desirous of getting their sons and daughters home for the four-day weekend because of the labor shortage on farms.

With the advent of gasoline and tire rationing, an increasing number of students will be spending weekends on the school campus and take part in the entertainment and extra-curricular events planned for Friday and Saturday evenings.

hit by coaching difficulties. Coach E. F. Bennett was taken ill and was unable to make the trip to Morris. Captain Gene Johnston assisted in coaching the track team in Mr. Bennett's absence. The cross-country squad, hard hit by ineligibilities, won second place in the Conference meet at the West Central School on November 11. Football Coach H. E. Roese accompanied the cross-country squad to Morris. Making the trip were Captain Gene Johnston, Angus; Vernon Hoppe, Crookston; Lloyd Kasprick, Angus; Edmund Szcpanski, Stephen, and Carlton Knutson, Ashby.

Basketball, swimming, and wrestling squads will be organized this week. Swimming and wrestling squad prospects are relatively unknown quantities as yet, although a good number of boys have indicated intentions of enrolling. A large basketball squad is in prospect with a normal number of last year's squad returning. Coach Roese is now working on the cage schedule for the approaching season.

University Lyceum Program Scheduled For November 21

Jack Rank in "The Merchant of Venice" will be presented as a University lyceum number at the Northwest School on Saturday evening, Nov. 21, 8:00 P. M. Mr. Rank is the only actor in America who represents an entire play himself, portraying all the parts. In the past eight years he has presented over three thousand performances of his mono-dramas.

potatoes may be kept as low as 32° F. but should not be allowed to freeze. If potatoes become sweet from low temperature, a few days at room temperature will tend to restore the natural flavor. Sometimes the only evidence of exposure to freezing is found in the darkened tissue when the potato is cut and the flesh exposed to air.

Blackheart is another storage trouble resulting from an insufficient supply of oxygen, a situation sometimes developing when potatoes are piled too deep in bins.

However, the big problem this fall is to sort out the frost and rot infected potatoes and cool down the storage house as soon as possible. Ventilators closed in the daytime and opened at night will help lower the temperature of the storage houses. Rotting of sorted tubers will be kept at a minimum when the bin temperature is from 34 to 38 degrees Fahrenheit.
