Northwest School Contributes To War Effort

The Northwest School members of staff and student body are supporting the all-out production of war crops and agricultural products one hundred per cent. All instructors in crops, livestock, poultry, and farm engineering courses streamlined their course work this year to emphasize essentials for maximum production of food for the war effort. The value and construction of labor saving devices in livestock and poultry feeding and crop production has been given special attention as well.

The special tractor course for girls has proved to be of great value to farm girls. Thirty-five girls have received training in the operation and care of tractors, trucks, and automobiles.

A total of 382 boys and girls have received vocational training during the school year whereby they can render direct assistance in the home and on the farm in food production and conservation. War-time emergencies, such as shortages of labor, manpower for military service, food and feed production bring out in bold relief the wisdom of the founders of the Schools of Agriculture in releasing each year students for work during the six months of the growing season.

Northwest School students are now signing up for their home project work for the summer in which the majority will be doing something more than is required of them in food production.

The Northwest School faculty is proud of the accomplishments of its students who will be returning on March 24 to the front lines of food producers in the Red River Valley. The 382 boys and girls will be the second line of defense to the more than 160 Northwest School former students and graduates who are in the armed forces of our country.

Tire Care In War Times

W. R. PETERSON

Now is the time to examine tractor, truck and automobile tires to see if anything needs to be done to put them in their best possible condition for summer use. Since junior or big sister will probably be the tractor operator for the summer, tire inspection and repair becomes increasingly important.

If the tractor tires are the least bit questionable or if they are beginning to age, it would be good insurance to remove them and inspect for cracks or any evidence of fraying in the side walls. A small crack in the side wall promptly vulcanized is not serious, nor is the repair costly. Tire cracks or breaks, if neglected, may result in tire failure and crop losses at critical times during the cropping season.

New valve cores should replace old ones which may not be holding the correct air pressure. Tire life and tractor efficiency are greatly affected by tire pressures. The correct pressure for the different kinds of tires should be learned so that the proper pressure can be maintained.

It is important that the front wheel tires be equally inflated. If one tire is soft and the other hard, it creates a constant pull toward one side which will cause excessive wear on the tires and early fatigue to the operator.

It is possible that steel wheel tractors may again be required to start work under wet soil conditions; and, if so, wheel scrapers and other devices to keep the wheels clean will give a large increase in efficiency. It has been reported that some farmers have found a loose steel tire placed between the rows of lugs (where the wheel is equipped with two rows of spade lugs) effective in keeping the wheels clean. This tire should be larger in diameter

Advanced Class Wins Both Interclass Basketball Trophies

The Advanced class had the distinction of winning championship cups in both the boys' and girls' division of the interclass basketball series. The classes in the final standings of the interclass series ranked according to seniority with the Seniors in both divisions giving the Advanced team a very close race for the championship.

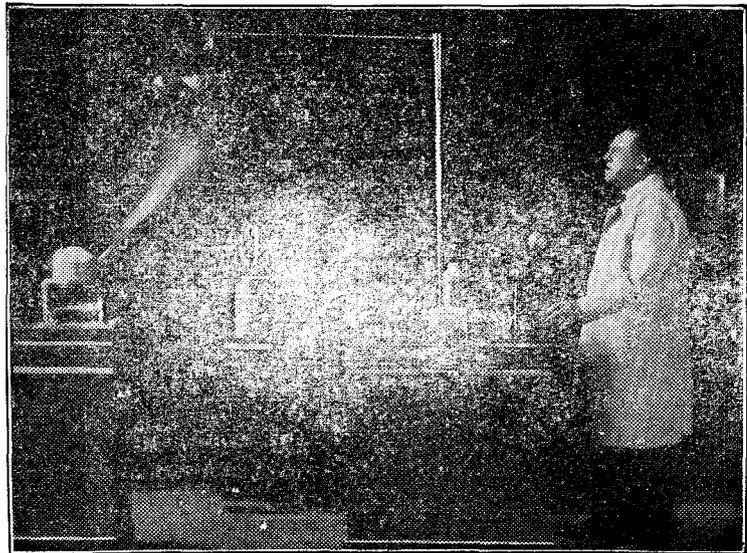

On March 10, the interclass basketball trophies and class numerals were presented to the teams at the awards assembly. Coach H. E. Roese presented the awards in the boys' division, and Miss Avonella Gregoire, girls' physical education instructor, presented the awards in the girls' division.

Aggies Retain Basketball Championship

The Northwest School basketball squad ended its season on February 26 with the assurance of at least a tie for the Conference championship. Boasting two victories over the Morris Aggies and one over the Grand Rapids five, they can receive no worse than a tie. Grand Rapids and Morris have two games left to play which will decide the issue. If Grand Rapids loses one or both games to Morris, the Northwest squad will be undisputed champions.

In the four final games of the season, the locals won the first of a two-game series with Grand Rapids, at Grand Rapids, by a score of 31-23. The second evening, the tables were turned and Grand Rapids took the contest by a close margin, 24-22. The games were played on February 19 and 20. In the final games of the season with the Morris Aggies, played on the Northwest School floor on February 25 and 26, the local squad ran up their biggest scores of the season to win both contests, 58-25 and 62-19. Coach Roese's boys reached their peak in performance in these games. The Morris organization, however, was not up to its

Junior-Senior Banquet Held March 6

The Junior-Senior banquet and prom, the most colorful event of the school year, was held at the Northwest School on Saturday evening, March 6.

The banquet was held in the school dining hall at 6:15 p. m. The prom was held in the gymnasium from nine to twelve o'clock. The Mexican Fiesta theme was consistently followed out in the appointments at the banquet and in the decorations in the gymnasium. The tables, seating two hundred and twenty, were gaily decorated in bright colors so characteristic of Mexican people. Waitresses and bus boys from the Freshmen class carried out the color scheme with Mexican costumes. Colored candles in wooden sombrero candle holders, which were made by Juniors in shop classes, furnished the lighting for the banquet hall.

Glenn Holmquist of Hallock served as toastmaster; Nelvin Thormodson of Fergus Falls, president of the Junior class, gave the address of welcome to the seniors; Gunhild Nesland of Grygla, vice-president of the Senior class, gave the response for her class. Junior class advisers, Mrs. B. M. Bakkegard and W. R. Peterson, extended greetings to Seniors and other guests.

Superintendent T. M. McCall gave the principal address of the evening speaking on the subject "International Goodwill." The Junior girls' double quartette sang "Estrellita"; a junior boys' double quartette sang "El Rancho Grande"; and the combined vocal group sang "Ay, Ay, Ay."

The host class and their guests enjoyed a program of dancing at the gymnasium following the banquet. The program was opened with the traditional grand march led by the presidents of the two classes. The decorations in the gymnasium carried out the carnival spirit of the Mexican fiesta. The orchestra was seated in a balcony around which were large panels depicting a street scene in old Mexico. Green, red and yellow streamers radiating from the center of the floor marked the outline of the dancing pavilion. The crayon art work on the Mexican street scene panels was done by a student committee consisting of Cheryl Bjella, Robert Johnston, Duane Walsberg, and Nelvin Thormodson. Other members of the decorations committee were Calvin Schweinzfeier; Marian Sargent was chairman of the program committee. Evelyn Brandli, Elaine Aasland, and Helen Auer served as the banquet arrangements committee; Kent Hanson was in charge of music, and Lloyd Kasprick was ticket chairman.

win the school "A".

A. M. Foker, chairman of the school athletic committee, acted as toastmaster at the banquet. Retiring captains of the athletic, judging, and debating teams responded to toasts for their respective teams and reviewed briefly the progress made by the teams during the year and the plans for 1943-44. Team captains and members of judging and debating teams who spoke for their activities were: football—Darwin Ferrer, Pitt; basketball—Harris Peterson of Drayton, No. Dak.; cross-country—Gene Johnston of Angus; hockey—Robert Phillips, Noyes; wrestling—Orville Dahlsad Georgetown; swimming—Jack Christensen, Crookston; crops judging—Howard Anderson, Fisher; livestock judging—Lyle Clow, Hallock; debate—Charles Samuelson, Crookston.

Professor R. S. Dunham entertained the banquet group with two novelty piano selections. Roy Gunderson of Goodridge played his guitar and sang two Western songs and played in a guitar and saxophone duet with Clarence Kochmann of Mahnom.

Superintendent T. M. McCall, in a brief address on "The Will to Win", pointed out that the individual team member must first win over the defeatism in his own self before he can win any of the goals in his life.

Judge Oscar R. Knutson, a graduate of the class of 1919, contrasted the facilities for athletics today at the Northwest School with what he and the students had some twenty-five years ago. In discussing the subject "Winning the Game of Life", Judge Knutson made clear that observance of the rules of the game in good clean playing in the game of life were essential for success. In playing the game of life, the speaker stated that it was necessary for the individual to have more than his own selfish interests for he today must have not only a broad general interest in national affairs but international affairs as well.

Tribute was paid by the team captains and Superintendent McCall to the coaches of various school teams and to former coach of cross-country, wrestling, and swimming, Coach E. F. Bennett, who gave up his coaching because of illness. The coaches present included: H. E. Roese, basketball and football; R. S. Dunham, crops judging; O. M. Kiser, livestock judging; Mary Ellen Pofahl, debating. Willis Eide, acting sport editor of the Crookston Daily Times, was a guest of the "A" club.

The banquet was served under the direction of Miss Bernice Frohreich, manager of the school dining hall. Committees from the "A" club, under the direction of R. J. Halvorson, arranged the program and decorations for the banquet.
